

Environmental Policy Statement

The members of the Inland Group of Companies respect and admire this earth we were given and all it has to offer us and future generations. We are therefore committed to protecting this gift and consider it our responsibility to do everything in our power to ensure that any impact we have on the environment is positive.

Environmental stewardship is a fundamental principle that guides our business activities. As part of this environmental stewardship principle, we will be guided by the following tenets:

- Our group will maintain the highest standards for environmental stewardship in the design and operation of our equipment and in the delivery of our services.
- Our group will actively pursue solutions to minimize waste and the environmental impacts of our operations.
- Our group will strive to exceed all environmental guidelines, laws and other regulations at each of our sites. We will encourage environmental leadership in the development of new policies by government and industry.
- Management will support staff in all operations to ensure compliance. We will develop programs leading to continuous improvement.

All of our people and contractors are responsible for working toward these principles at all times.
